- First lesson: There will be no charge for the first lesson. Prospective students should come prepared with a song of their choosing (a cappella, sheet music, lead sheet, or recorded accompaniment are all acceptable). We will spend the time getting acquainted and deciding if we want to proceed further.
- Cost: $75 for a one-hour lesson. With new students, it is best if we meet every two weeks. After six months, we can discuss whether meeting more or less frequently will be helpful.
- Cancellation: Lessons will be charged in full unless 24 hours notice is given.
- Practice: Students are expected to practice regularly. I would recommend a minimum of 20 minutes per day, 5 days per week. As students advance, and especially if performances are looming, I would expect that this amount of time would increase substantially.
- At all times, students are free to work with any additional teachers they feel are necessary. I do request, however, that I be informed of other teachers you are working with.
- I endeavor at all times to conduct myself in a dignified, professional manner during lessons, and I expect students to do the same.
- Cancellation: If at any time a student wishes to discontinue lessons, I request that we have one final lesson together. Either party is free to discontinue the relationship at any time.
